DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 8-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Claims 8-14 are directed to a computer program per se, lacking storage on a medium which enables any underlying functionality to occur.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4,7-11,14,15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being fully met by Kemp (USP 7039194). Kemp discloses an audio effects synthesizer which comprises a first and second storage section 22 for storing first and second impulse response data, and new data creating section / reverberation sound generating section 21 (see Col. 5 line 57 - Col. 6 lines 11; Fig. 5; Col. 6 lines 49-67), wherein interpolation reads on the “new data creating” recited.

Regarding Claims 4,7,11,14, Kemp discloses convolution of the signals (Col. 14 lines 53-62) which reads on the linearly combining / summing recited.

Claims 5,6,12,13 are allowable over the prior art.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Frost, Begault, and Lindemann et al are further cited to show related teachings in the art.
